INTERIM REPORT - ICELAND

I. THE PROBLEM

To explore the existing causes for the steadily deteriorating public attitude in Iceland toward the need for a sustained defense cooperation with the United States and to make recommendations for alleviating these causes.

II. DISCUSSION

a. The United States and Iceland on May 5, 1951, signed a Defense Agreement under which the United States undertook the defense of Iceland as a NATO-delegated responsibility. The United States was granted certain military operating rights, including the stationing of troops and aircraft in Iceland. The Icelandic public has never been markedly sympathetic to the presence of U. S. forces in Iceland. The Icelanders' basic "anti-foreign army attitude" has received considerable impetus from the Soviet "peace drive" which followed Stalin's death and on which the Communists have capitalized. This drive has persuaded many Icelanders that the reasons for putting up with the "evil of a foreign army" have become less cogent. Complacency has set in to a rather alarming degree, based on a widespread impression that the cold war is tapering off comfortably. While thus far only a minority would abrogate the Defense Agreement, a majority of Icelanders is in favor of making greater demands on the U.S. and qualifying more sharply our rights in Iceland. This has been specifically given expression in a note received December 4, 1953, from the Icelandic Government, requesting negotiations on the manner of implementing the Agreement. (Annex "A")

b. It is in the U.S. interest to meet with Icelandic representatives and remove existing causes of dissatisfaction in the implementation of the Agreement. Discussions are planned for late January, 1954. However, since the course of the Government in this small community is so easily swayed by popular opinion, efforts must be exerted to create a positive recognition of the Soviet threat and of Iceland's NATO responsibilities. If the present tendency persists, it may result in demands that the Defense Agreement be abrogated or be so sharply restricted as to negate its value to the United States.

III. OBJECTIVES AND RECOMMENDED COURSES OF ACTION

a. To promote confidence in U. S. leadership and policy.

- (1) Negotiate with the Icelandic Government for a satisfactory solution to the outstanding problems connected with the implementation of the Defense Agreement of 1951. Preparations for these talks are well under way. (State, Defense)
- (2) Be prepared to consider sympathetically an Icelandic request for MDAP funds for the creation of Icelandic military units. (Defense, State, FOA)
- (3) Utilize every opportunity through the U. S. Minister and high officials of the U.S. Government to emphasize to Icelandic officials and the public the importance to Iceland of the integrated NATO system. (State, Defense, USIA)

b. To alleviate the tensions and the dissatisfactions between the Icelanders on the one hand, and the American civilian construction workers and the U. S. Forces stationed in Iceland, on the other hand, as they relate to the implementation of the U.S.-Icelandic Defense Agreement.

- (1) In consultation with the American authorities in Iceland, exploring the feasibility of developing further the program in Iceland to improve the acceptance of American military and civilian personnel in Iceland. (State, Defense, USIA)
- (2) Make provisions for the supervision and control of the workers, through contractual agreement between the Government and prime contractors on the one hand, and between the contractor and the workers on the other hand. (Defense)
- (3) Reemphasize the present U.S. policy of utilizing Icelandic personnel on construction projects to the limit of their availability. (Defense, USIA, State, FOA)

- (5) Insure that adequate coverage is given to the fact that the Icelandic economy derives real benefit from the presence of U. S. personnel. (USIA)

- (1) Intensify a U. S. offensive program against the Communists in Iceland to include consideration of the use of the Armed Forces Radio station for this purpose. (USIA, Defense, State, FOA)

d. To develop an increased understanding of American life, institutions, and culture.

- (1) Provide funds for the employment of a cultural officer to strengthen our cultural, economic and exchange of persons programs in Iceland. (It has been found possible to transfer from another area funds for two positions. USIS has also been authorized to increase the additional Icelanders on its staff.) (USIA)

- (6) Inspire the publication in the U.S. of magazine articles concerning Iceland and its relationship to the U.S. with a view to their distribution in Iceland. (USIA)

Excellency:

I have the honor on behalf of my Government to submit the following proposals regarding the Defense Agreement and related agreements and their implementation.

1. The Construction activities on behalf of the Defense Forces be arranged in such a manner that engagement of foreign labor be entirely avoided and at the same time due consideration be given to the demand for manpower by the Icelandic industries and production. It should also be stressed that the installations to be constructed may become useful for other as well as defense purposes. Evacuation of foreign labor engaged by the Defense Force should be commenced as soon as practicable.
2. The Icelandic State will act as an intermediary in construction activities and maintenance of installations for the Defense Force. The State will either invite tenders for the projects or have them performed in the same manner as now is the case as regards road construction to the contemplated Radar-sites.
3. The defense areas be planned in such a manner so as to separate distinctly the area occupied by the Defense Force and its alien employees and that occupied by Icelanders in order to facilitate the control of these limits.
4. Further restrictions than now existing be put on leave excursions of members of the Iceland Defense Force and its employees outside the defense areas. The Icelandic Government should issue regulations to this effect, but as a matter of course, it would have due cooperation in this respect with the Iceland Defense Force.
5. The possibilities of Icelanders manning the contemplated Radar Stations on behalf of the Iceland Defense Force be investigated as well as the possibilities of Icelanders undertaking other categories of work in connection with security measures. The training for this purpose of Icelandic personnel be commenced as soon as practicable.

INCREASE IN EXCHANGE PROGRAM WITH ICELAND

The Educational Exchange Service will increase both governmental and private exchanges with Iceland in the following manner:

a. By increasing the number of Icelandic leaders, lecturers, teachers, and students coming to the U.S.

We will increase the number of grants in Fiscal 1954 from the present 3 (cost: $5,580) to 14 full grants (cost: $29,680).

Five Icelandic leaders (60-day grants)	@ $1,120	$5,600
Two Icelandic lecturers (10-mo. grants)	@ 3,000	6,000
Two Icelandic teachers (10-mo. grants)	@ 2,040	4,080
Five Icelandic students (10-mo. grants)	@ 2,800	14,000
		$29,680

b. By arranging one or two week stopovers in Iceland for American specialists going to other parts of the world (cost: $6,320).

We have examined the itineraries of all the U.S. specialists now abroad or soon to go abroad and have selected twelve as potentially suitable for spending two weeks or, in one case, one week, in Iceland--providing both the Legation and grantee approve. The twelve are:

Mr. Don Kingman, American watercolor artist of Chinese ancestry from San Francisco (now living in Brooklyn). He would lecture and also paint some pictures which he could leave in Iceland. Going to the Far East.

Grace McAnn Morley, Curator of the San Francisco Museum of Art. Going to the Far East and Africa.

Mary Turlay Robinson, Lecturer on American Art. Going to France.

Isabel Serger, Specialist in Children's Theater work (from Baltimore). Going to Germany.

skilled in coaching all American sports, especially basketball. Now in Thailand.

Bruce Hopper, Professor of Government at Harvard.
Going to eleven European countries to lecture; is vation, Minn. Dartmouth graduate and scholar in

ANNEX "B"

Three points should be emphasized with respect to a. and b.:

- (1) In all cases, the figures given assume that MATS would be willing to supply the international travel involved to and from Iceland, both for the fourteen full grantees and for the twelve partial grantees. It is not suggested that special flights be arranged, but that grantees be placed on flights scheduled. $30,420 is the absolute maximum in funds which can be made available by IES for this revised program. If international travel were not made available by MATS, the cost of the grants would rise as follows:

Leaders	by $490.00
Lecturers, Teachers and Students	by $400.00
Partial grantees	by $500.00, $300.00, $200.00 and $100.00, respectively

Any rise in cost above $30,420 would have to be met by cutting down the number of grantees.

- (2) BNA and the Legation should consider whether the use of MATS exclusively as the transporting medium may have adverse effects in Iceland or upon some of the foreign grantees.
- (3) It is hoped that at least the student, teacher and lecturer grants may be the core of a continuing program through the years.

c. Foreign currencies are available in Iceland for the initiation of an educational exchange of persons program under the provisions of P.L. 584, as amended.

$100,000 from the surplus property agreement has been reserved by the Treasury for an educational exchange program.

Experience with these programs in other countries has shown that much good will results from the fact that they are supervised by Binational Commission in each country. Thus there is an additional value to that of the actual exchanges.

If approval is given immediately for negotiating the necessary agreement with Iceland, the new program could be in operation in FY 1955.

d. By facilitating the exchange of music groups, such as the Icelandic Choir.

If there is any question as to the admissibility of any member or members of the choir on the grounds of Communist Party affiliations, it is recommended that 9th Proviso action be sought urgently. The choir is a distinguished group representing all classes of the Icelandic people and enjoying great prestige in Iceland. If financial assistance is required for the choir's visit, the American Scandinavian Foundation can be consulted both with respect to its own resources and to those of similarly interested groups.

Continuing work can be done to give appropriate facilitation to cultural events or exchanges under auspices other than the Department such as the following:

a. About May 31, 1954, the distinguished American organist, E. Power Biggs, will conclude a European tour with a concert in Iceland.

b. A group of Icelandic students have been studying forestry in Alaska under joint sponsorship of the Icelandic-American Society and the U.S. Forestry Service.

c. An Icelandic technician is in the U.S. milk pasteurization office of the Department of Agriculture.
